Drag Line

Out on the Coal Field

A 160 Ton Truck hauls the coal out of the mine to the power plant. The group of visitors board a bus and go out on the actual coal seam.

Generators

The generators are a major part of the operation. To the left, you can see the size of the generators and the floor that they set on.

Control Center

The control center houses a system of computers that monitor the entire facility at Coal Creek. If something is not working properly the control center can pin point the exact location of the problem and have it fixed as soon as possible.
